Foreword

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards bodies (ISO member bodies). The work of preparing International Standards is normally carried out through ISO technical committees. Each member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been established has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work. ISO collaborates closely with the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) on all matters of electrotechnical standardization.

The procedures used to develop this document and those intended for its further maintenance are described in the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 1. In particular, the different approval criteria needed for the different types of ISO documents should be noted. This document was drafted in accordance with the editorial rules of the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 2 (see www.iso.org/directives).

ISO draws attention to the possibility that the implementation of this document may involve the use of (a) patent(s). ISO takes no position concerning the evidence, validity or applicability of any claimed patent rights in respect thereof. As of the date of publication of this document, ISO had not received notice of (a) patent(s) which may be required to implement this document. However, implementers are cautioned that this may not represent the latest information, which may be obtained from the patent database available at www.iso.org/patents. ISO shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

Any trade name used in this document is information given for the convenience of users and does not constitute an endorsement.

For an explanation of the voluntary nature of standards, the meaning of ISO specific terms and expressions related to conformity assessment, as well as information about ISO's adherence to the World Trade Organization (WTO) principles in the Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT) see www.iso.org/iso/foreword.html.

This document was prepared by Technical Committee ISO/TC 249, Traditional Chinese medicine.

This second edition cancels and replaces the first edition (ISO/TR 23975:2019) which has been technically revised.

The main changes are as follows:

- in 5.1, the international trading value of herbal medicines was replaced by the international trade volume as a high priority principle;
- in 5.4, a new principle of high priority was added;
- in 6.1, the data of international trade volume for single herbal medicines was updated; and Table 1 was sorted by international trade volume;
- in 6.2, the data of single herbal medicines recorded in pharmacopoeias was updated; and Table 2 was sorted by occurrence count;
- in 6.4, the data of the use frequency for single herbal medicines in formula recorded in Pharmacopoeias and national formula was added; and Table 4 was sorted by occurrence count;
- in 6.5, the data of international standard for single herbal medicines that have been published or are under development was updated, and listed in Table 5;
- in 6.6, single herbal medicines that are listed as endangered species in CITES were updated;
- in 7.1, the weight coefficient of criteria for developing single herb standards based on recent expert consultation was updated, and listed in Table 7;
- in 7.2, the range of priority rank for developing single herb standards based on recent expert consultation was updated, and listed in Table 8;
- in Clause 8, Table 9 was updated;

— in Annex A, Table A.1 was updated.

In addition to text written in the official ISO languages (English, French, Russian), this document gives text in Chinese. This text is published under the responsibility of the Member Body for China (SAC) and is given for information only. Only the text given in the official languages can be considered as ISO text.

Any feedback or questions on this document should be directed to the user's national standards body. A complete listing of these bodies can be found at www.iso.org/members.html.

Introduction

Being a significant part of traditional medicine systems and general health services, traditional Chinese medicine is estimated to be used in over 180 countries and regions around the world. This is reflected by the statistics cited from the WHO report that there are 4 billion people in the world using herbal medicines, accounting for 80 % of the total world population. Asia, North America and Europe are regarded as the major markets for herbal medicines. Moreover, incomplete Chinese customs statistics show that the import and export of herbal medicine products in China was worth over 1,61 billion USD in 2023. Therefore, it is very important to develop globally harmonized standards in order to ensure the safety of consumers. In particular, those herbal medicines which have been reported to cause adverse drug reactions (ADR) are drawing much attention from national health administrations.

There are a great number of single herbs on the market; for instance, 618 kinds of herbs have been included in the Pharmacopoeia of the People's Republic of China. Currently, organizations, regions and countries including ISO, WHO, the European Union, China, Japan, Korea, the USA, the UK and Thailand are making valuable contributions by developing standards for single herbs. This document presents a list of single herbal medicines in order of priority for the purposes of developing standards on single herbs in a scientific and orderly manner. This document can be used as a reference by any organization wishing to develop standards on single herbal medicines.

The following factors have been considered in setting the priorities:

- the trade volume of each single herbal medicine in the global market;
- whether the herbal medicine is recorded by the Pharmacopoeia of the People's Republic of China, the European Pharmacopoeia, the Japanese Pharmacopoeia, the Japanese standards for non-Pharmacopoeial crude drugs, the Korean Pharmacopoeia, the Korean Herbal Pharmacopoeia, the Thai Herbal Pharmacopoeia, Hong Kong Chinese Materia Medica Standards or the United States Pharmacopoeia;
- whether there are potential risks from its use;
- whether the herbal medicine is used in formula by the Pharmacopoeia of the People's Republic of China, the Japanese Pharmacopoeia, the Korean Pharmacopoeia, or other national formula;
- whether the herbal medicine is listed in the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES);
- opinions from experts.

Traditional Chinese medicine — Priority list of single herbal medicines for developing standards

1 Scope

This document provides a reference of single herbal medicines in order of their priority in the development of international standards.

This document also provides a reference of the principles and the methodology for the priority evaluation of single herbal medicines.

2 Normative references

There are no normative references in this document.

3 Terms and definitions

No terms and definitions are listed in this document.

ISO and IEC maintain terminology databases for use in standardization at the following addresses:

- ISO Online browsing platform: available at <https://www.iso.org/obp>
- IEC Electropedia: available at <http://www.electropedia.org/>

4 Document structure

4.1 The principles for determining the priority of single herbal medicines are established in Clause 5.

4.2 Single herbal medicines and the data of evaluation indexes are listed in Clause 6.

4.3 The methods of data statistics, including the weight coefficient of evaluation indexes and the range of priority rank, are determined in Clause 7.

4.4 The priority list of single herbal medicines is established in Clause 8 based on the evaluation indexes data in Clause 6 and the statistical methods in Clause 7. The non-priority list of single herbal medicines is provided in Annex A.

5 Principles

5.1 Herbal medicines which have a large international trade volume are listed as high priority in Table 1.

5.2 Common herbal medicines recorded in the Pharmacopoeia of the People's Republic of China, the European Pharmacopoeia, the Japanese Pharmacopoeia, the Japanese standards for non-Pharmacopoeial crude drugs, the Korean Pharmacopoeia, the Korean Herbal Pharmacopoeia, the Thai Herbal Pharmacopoeia, Hong Kong Chinese Materia Medica Standards, and the United States Pharmacopoeia are listed as high priority in Table 2.

5.3 Herbal medicines that have safety concerns, such as those widely reported to cause adverse drug reactions (ADR), are listed as high priority in Table 3.

5.4 Herbal medicines which have a high frequency of use in formula recorded in the Pharmacopoeia of the People's Republic of China, the Japanese Pharmacopoeia, the Korean Pharmacopoeia, and other national formula are listed as high priority in Table 4.

5.5 Single herbal medicines for which there are existing ISO standards are listed as high priority in Table 5.

5.6 Herbal medicines which are included in CITES are listed for reference in Table 6.

6 Evaluation indexes

6.1 International trade

Table 1 provides information on the 100 single herbal medicines which had the largest international trade volume in China and Japan from 2017 to 2021 (sorted by international trade volume).

7 Data processing

7.1 The weight coefficient of evaluation indexes distribution

The weight coefficient of four criteria (international trade, existing standards, safety issues and use frequency in formula) for developing single herb standards were established by international experts working in the fields of traditional Chinese medicine, phytomedicine, natural medicines and standardization (see Table 7).

Table 7 — The weight coefficient of criteria based on expert consultation

Criterion	Descriptives					Coefficient of variation
	Number of participants	Minimum score %	Maximum score %	Average score %	Standard deviation	CV %
International trade	69	16,5	60	26,25	5,79	22,06
Existing standards	69	10	33	23,26	3,66	15,73
Safety issues	69	10	33	25,17	4,26	16,91
Use frequency in formula	69	5	40	25,32	4,11	16,24
Valid number	69			100,00

7.2 The range of priority rank distribution

The range of priority rank for developing single herb standards were determined by the vote of international experts working in the fields of traditional Chinese medicine, phytomedicine, natural medicines and standardization (see Table 8). Based on this result, the top 150 single herbal medicines are selected as the priority rank range in the development of international standards for single herbs.

Table 8 — The range of priority rank for developing single herb standards based on expert consultation

Opinion	Number of votes
Top 100 single herbal medicines	7
Top 150 single herbal medicines	31
Top 200 single herbal medicines	3
Top 100 single herbal medicines after removing the single herbal medicines of that the ISO standards have been published or are under development	27
Top 100 single herbal medicines except for these have been published	1
Valid number	69

7.3 Data statistics

The information in Table 1, Table 2, Table 3 and Table 4 was analysed by the rank-sum ratio (RSR) method according to a statistical theory and thus produced in Table 9 and Table A.1.

8 Single herbal medicines in order of priority

Table 9 shows the top 150 single herbal medicines, ranked by synthesis score via the Statistical Package for Social Science (SPSS), in the order of their priority in the development of international standards. The remaining single herbal medicines outside the top 150 are listed in Annex A.
